Special Notes or Thoughts you would like to share: The older I get, the more value I place on family and friends; my priorities seem to have shifted to “people”, not things. I’ve had great friends over the years, but I don’t think I’ve ever duplicated the close feelings and trust I had with my best high school friends. I can’t remember where I put my keys, but I remember exactly what it felt like to walk Nick off the field after a football game 40 years ago!
